

JK Seva Hosting Services

JK Seva has been installing, implementing, and integrating systems since 1996 and many of our consultants have experience dating back to before then! When JK Seva has a customer in a long-term partnership relationship, we are not simply a products and services provider, we are a friend. After all, It's Not Just Your Software We Care About.™

As a sanctioned reseller and implementer, we offer proven, best-of-breed enterprise applications as well as our expertise in successfully implementing business application solutions.

We provide hosting services on multiple servers as well as combining to a single server and also include a Production and Development configuration as well as the addition of a Disaster Recovery configuration. One user or thousands, we have a solution to fit your needs. Each system is scaled to provide maximum performance for your specific set of software. There's no need to pay for processors or memory you're not using when we size your system. If your site grows your system can grow right along with you.
